

Escambia County is currently drafting (January 2007) new language to define the chain of succession and should be identified and adopted by approximately March 2007. Once the BCC has made the final determination, it will be considered incorporated into this plan.